Annotation

This article talks about the importance and relevance of learning foreign languages. The article also covers the role and role of a foreign language in the present.

Keywords: Foreign language, modern world English, the importance of language.

If you ask people if it is necessary for you to learn a foreign language, most of them will answer "no". Much more are those who say that it is possible to live comfortably without knowing any language other than the native language. They think that the best works of art have already been translated into Uzbek, and in order to read the rest, it is not necessary to learn a second language. But if you want to get an impartial answer to the question of whether you need to learn any language, try asking a person who knows a foreign language, and not from those who do not know a foreign language.

After all, who can give you the right information about the importance of what he does not have?

Each language is distinguished from the others by its unique aspect. Just like in our language, other languages reflect in themselves the past of the people. You cannot know the benefits of language learning until you master it perfectly. In the process of learning a foreign language, you will get acquainted with the way of life, mentality and worldview of that people. It will not be felt from the very first days of starting to learn a language, but as you master it well and perfectly, you will be sure that life is brighter and more colorful. The science of modern psychology puts forward the idea that the study of a foreign language also partially changes the character of a person.

Excited to learn a foreign language, he said, " Do I need this language? "those who ask themselves questions, believe that your doubts are idle. In the modern world, a foreign language is as necessary and significant as air with water.

The importance of English in the modern world is difficult to overestimate. After all, it cannot be calculated by the choice of more than 1 billion people who use it. And if for half of them he was local, then about 600 million chose him as a foreigner. Of course, the range of distribution of English in the modern world is so great that this language cannot be the same in different areas. Despite the fact that there are many different options and unique features for each nation, English remains the most popular language in our world. What role does English play in our lives?

In general, the political, economic, scientific, sports life of the whole world “flows” in English. English is defined as the official and working language of the United Nations. Various types of summits and meetings of heads of state, signing of laws and decrees, negotiations and discussions – all this is conducted in English. International trade, the work of the banking system, the activities of the transport system on land, sea and air are carried out in English. This language is a living communication weapon for academics, doctors of Sciences, scientists around the world. After all, international conferences, the study of world experience and the exchange of scientific opinions will be only with the use of English. But what can I say - the Olympic Games and all kinds of competitions between countries chose English as their official language.

The importance of English in the modern world is so great that its knowledge is not a privilege or luxury. At one time, computers, like mobile phones, could only be bought by people of a certain social stratum. Now such things are necessary things. The same can be said for English. It is taught everywhere by everyone: in schools, universities, courses. And in our age of digital technology, anyone can do it without leaving their home. As you know, any educated person is obliged to speak English, because he is the key to self-education and self-improvement. That is why there are so many organizations now offering you to teach English. However, don't think it's too easy to do. Learning any language is a long process that requires certain costs, both mental and financial.

Conclusion:

The world does not stand still, it is constantly improving, new discoveries appear, the latest technologies are being developed. That is why it is so important to have a world language in which representatives of different countries and nationalities can communicate. Today this language is English. Good knowledge of English is more important today than ever. Increasingly, in the "international" world, it is very important to find a common language with representatives of other countries. English is the language of international communication that allows you to accept and endure all changes in the world.

Knowledge of the English language is one of the keys to success on the path of life, allowing you to rise one step higher, cover wider areas of communication, get acquainted with the national characteristics of the culture and traditions of the peoples of other countries. areas of activity in which a society of highly qualified specialists rotates, thereby enriching their knowledge and intellectual abilities, making their lives interesting and diverse.

In the modern world, knowledge of the English language is the norm for active and motivated people. If you are fluent in English, it will significantly expand your life prospects.

Highly skilled workers speaking world languages have always been valued and appreciated. Today, it is not enough just to be an expert in one field, because society mercilessly demands further development and improvement from a person, otherwise it will sink to the very bottom of human development.

In conclusion, the language is a tool that serves as a bridge between nations, those who "letter" without fear of it, in one way or another, will also win the key to achievement and "new worlds". I think that no matter how much we rate a foreign language as significant.
