A lot of work is being done on Poverty Reduction, and the seats of our president have become great and significant in this. Based on the series of ideas implemented by our president, we can cite the following as an example. Within the framework of Administrative Reforms, a ministry responsible for these areas was created and all legal and organizational foundations were laid. For the first time in our country, the value of minimum consumption costs was introduced. To ensure employment, family entrepreneurship was provided with 15 trillion soums of preferential loans and subsidies, 200,000 hectares of land for farming. During the same period, about 300,000 business entities were established and 20,000 businesses were expanded. Last year, 1 million residents were removed from poverty. Even in our recently adopted Constitution, the state has made obligations to itself on poverty reduction. Therefore, at the meeting, measures were discussed to bring work on this subject to a new level. First of all, it was noted that the Ministry of poverty reduction and employment should work in new ways in the regions. The issue of encouraging potential entrepreneurs to create new jobs was considered. To do this, a contract is concluded with them for the training of a qualified worker. That is, many "practical monomarcations" are organized at enterprises. The state provides relief on infrastructure, credit, taxes and other matters while providing the necessary funds for this. The entrepreneur, on the other hand, provides the poor population with profitable employment. Officials were instructed to introduce this system in all districts and cities. It is known that China's experience in poverty reduction is notable. To study this and develop new approaches, the delegation of our country has recently returned to China. Experts were recruited from there to the Ministry of poverty reduction and employment. Now, on the basis of the Chinese experience, it was established that a separate program will be implemented to eliminate one district from poverty in each province. This will focus on improving road transport, electricity, communications and tourism infrastructure in poverty-stricken districts, developing small and medium-sized cities, industrializing neighborhoods. The deputy prime minister was tasked with solving the necessary infrastructure issue for this. This year, 13 trillion soums of loans and 1.5 trillion soums of subsidies are allocated to family entrepreneurship. There are also 37 types of subsidies for Poverty Reduction and employment. But the conditions for their separation are almost the same for all, regardless of the socio-economic status of the families, the period of self-justification of the project. Therefore, a proposal was made to provide loans and subsidies on a separate approach to each poor family. Assignments were made to reduce poverty and transform the Ministry of employment into a grassroots system, and to facilitate more than 100 social services directly in the neighbourhood itself. In addition, work on this project has also begun in the regions and continues to give brief information about this as well.

2. An international forum on poverty reduction was started in Bukhara. It is attended by more than 250 domestic and foreign economists, representatives of partner state and international financial institutions. At the beginning of the event, Deputy Prime Minister – Minister of economic development and poverty reduction Jamshid Kochkarov spoke about the measures taken in Uzbekistan to reduce poverty by 2 times until 2026. During the Forum, current issues are analyzed, such as creating the necessary conditions for the development of small and medium-sized businesses and thereby increasing the amount of public resources directed to social projects at the expense of opening sustainable jobs, developing human capital and increasing labor productivity, liberalizing energy resource prices and reducing the volume of inefficient subsidies. At this event, the first deputy governor of the region – Jamshid O'roqov, head of the regional economic development and poverty reduction Directorate, is also involved, as well as economists and deputy governors in neighborhoods that are taking good initiative and achieving significant results throughout their career. Events within the Forum will continue tomorrow, may 27th.

President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev addressed the problem of poverty and its reduction in his speech on the occasion of International Women's day.

"Dear Sisters!

As you know, poverty reduction in our country has been set as a priority and we have begun to implement large-scale measures in this direction.

We need to clearly understand one fact: in order to reduce poverty, it is first of all necessary to reduce unemployment. First of all, it is necessary to educate the population in modern professions, increase their economic and financial literacy, and arouse a passion for entrepreneurship in people, especially in our women.

In this regard, we are thoroughly studying the experience of the world community and establishing international cooperation. At the same time, we are envisaging the implementation of $ 700 million programs for the development of entrepreneurship and private business, the fight against poverty in this year with such prestigious international organizations as the United Nations, the World Bank, the people's Republic of China and other countries.

These days, the Republican working group, headed by the Federation of Trade Unions of Uzbekistan, is in the regions and provides practical support to women with difficult living conditions, accurately analyzing the situation on each territory.

Programs are being developed and implemented by the Working Group in each neighborhood section to ensure the rights and interests of women living in rural areas, our girls entering an independent life, to provide social protection, to help them in every possible way. "Hotlines" or, in modern terms, "Call-center" activities were launched, in which the Working Group works continuously during the day and night, receiving appeals from women.

Now, even from any city or village of our country, remote ovules, our women were able to dial the short number 1211 and directly contact this center. We evaluate this as a logical continuation of what we started on the path of effective communication with the people,-" Shavkat Mirziyoyev said.
