In this article, the interpretation of the motherland theme in iqbol mirzo's poetry, Mirzo's poetry is about independence and patriotism, and the idea that the Motherland is a person's loyalty to the land where he was born and raised.

Key words: Homeland, Mirza Poetry independence and patriotism, Articles, Interpretation of the Theme of Homeland, urges to work for the creation of the world

Homeland is an important article of yours in a place that has a unique meaning for every nation. Although his theme is felt by all nations and appreciated by the ultimos, Mirza Sheriyat has drawn his own unique methods and advice to this presence.

Mirza Sheriyat did not fail to mention that independence and patriotism were felt in one nation, and that he looked at securing the future of the nation and the nation. It can be seen that his articles and poems are properly related to national ideals and spiritual divinity.

In his poems, Mirza Sheriyat tells about the love of the country, the night covered by the side of one's house, and patriotism that reaches down to the body. In his poetic articles, full attention is paid to the work of independence, written in a golden language.

In his articles, Mirza Sheriyat gives his opinion on patriotism. It shows the unity of nationality and mutual respect of different nationalities. His articles of support are of special importance to accelerate the settlement of the society.

Mirzo Sheriyat's scientific articles on the topic of the homeland can be found in the events of the century of presenting national properties on paper. He teaches the concept of country-foreign country as the father of all nations, and allows a person to be accepted by the rulers who belong to one mano, even if it comes from a dream.

Mirzo Sheriyat's scientific articles on the topic of the homeland serve to raise the spirit of the homeland and turn national properties into international monuments. He connects patriotism with the study of humanity, freedom and stability and expresses his opinion about it.

Therefore, when we learn the concepts by reading Mirzo Sheriyatta Vatan Teme Taqin and articles based on it, we will have more motivation and motivation to respect the national properties, serve it and establish love for the country. .

Homeland is a concept that expresses a person's sense of loyalty, love and responsibility to the land where he was born and raised. This concept is a force that unites people, ensures the unity and unity of societies.

Patriotism expresses respect and loyalty of people to their land, culture and history. Love for the motherland is a characteristic of the people, which allows them to make efforts to preserve their history and culture.

Patriotism also includes the responsibility of individuals to contribute to the welfare and development of society. Patriotism motivates people to contribute to their society, to work to meet their needs and create a better world for future generations.

Love for the country includes the responsibility of protecting and developing the society to which a person belongs. People adopt the values and norms of their society and take it upon themselves to teach and transmit these values to other people.

Patriotism is important not only at the individual level, but also at the social level. It allows people in the community to come together for a common goal, which increases unity and cohesion.

Patriotism encourages people to respect and help each other. People in the community cooperate with each other and contribute to make the community a better place.

Poetry brings elegant feelings to the heart. Poetry is a teacher, through which people's attention and love for each other increases. We enrich our psyche through these qualities. We will consider the magic of poetry through the works of Iqbal Mirza, one of the beloved poets of our country. We will analyze his poetic works that glorify the Motherland with a folk spirit. When we study the work of Iqbal Mirza, we can see that the theme of the Motherland and love are the main themes of the poet's poetry. For example, if he glorifies its beauty, clear sky, and elegant nature through the poem "Vatan"; Through the poem "Uzbek", he looks at the history and past of the country and teaches to look at the present day with a feeling of gratitude. "What is in your heart?", "May the motherland be happy" "Mother" Poems such as "Love" embody the image of a person trying to justify his fatherland, the kindness of his parents, and his filial duty to his loved ones. Like Muhammad Yusuf, Iqbal Mirza is considered to be the son of our nation's favorite poet whose lines have been turned into songs the most. That's why they call him "singing poet". Iqbal Mirza's sincere words glorifying the Motherland, raising it to the skies, have already been absorbed into our ears like an angel:

Far away, dear old man,

Don't teach me to step!

Take care of yourself, then beat your own drum,

Don't teach me how to live! If you look at the words of his poems such as "Tell me, my friend, what have we done for the Motherland", you will understand how boundless the poet's love for the Motherland and its people is:

Bow your head and say thank you

For the chaman who caressed you like a flower.

If you have walked in the heavens, return to the earth

Tell me, my friend, what have we done for the country?!

Today, the number of people who look at life with a light eye, who are losing their identity, and the feelings of humanity, gratitude, and love for the Motherland are disappearing in their hearts makes our hearts happy. With the words of the poet, "My friend, return to earth from the heavens." Do something good for this Motherland. "You were born in this soil, you are sprouting and growing. At least plant a bush in front of your house or in your neighborhood and take care of it. May your loved ones thank you. For the sake of the country, it is not necessary to cheer him up to the sky or guard him at the border", (Azod Sharafiddinov) says. Looking at the next verses of the poem, the question of what we have done for this country involuntarily arises in our eyes.<sup>1</sup>

In short, patriotism expresses a person's loyalty and responsibility to society. Patriotism allows people to work together to improve their community and create a better world for future generations. Therefore, love for the Motherland is an important value for every person and a concept that should be protected.
